True Religion

Prosperous merchant Manchanda was better known as Dhanna Seth (wealthy or mooned man). People used to come empty handed and leave with lot of wealth. This incident took place one day when the prosperous merchant perplexedly said to his wife, "I have suffered heavy loss and my entire business is gone. How would I be able to face people coming to me next day morning with a great expectation? We have no other option, but to leave this town this day itself". His wife gave an affirmative response to his view. She wrapped four chapattis in the middle of the same night. His wife had four gold bangles with her. The prosperous merchant thought to utilize the same in initiating his business. On the way, they witnessed a bitch that had given birth to four pets a little while ago, but she was preparing to eat them and remove her hunger.

Kailash 'Manav' The prosperous merchant's wife saved the life all the four pets by serving them all the four chapattis to them to eat. Thereafter, they met a visually impaired man who was greatly concerned for his daughter's marriage. She donated him all her four bangles. In this way, they reached a town. On reaching there, they came to know that the princess of the princely state over there witness and purchase religion by having a glimpse inside a magical mirror. The prosperous merchant decided to 'dispose of' one of his religions as in his own opinion he had executed a number of religious deeds. The princess witnessed the mirror in search for a religion, but she failed to find one in it. On the contrary, she could have a glimpse of two religions of prosperous merchant's wife. The princess asked, "Which one of the two would you like to sell?". He knew that he had much to donate for which he couldn't attain the religion whereas his wife donated everything she had with her and saved the life of four pets by donating her own food. The merchant decided not to dispose either of the two religions as he felt that how would they leave for their heavenly abode without religion.

Purposive Education

Once there was a learned saint. Many students used to come to him to acquire education. The saint used to make his pupils learn about acquiring knowledge with regard to Upnishads (any of the philosophical works attached to the Brahmanas) and Vedas (one of the three (later four) Indian sacred scriptures). Once, he made all the students learn about all the literary works in five years. Thereafter, he went to the bank of a river along with his pupils and asked all of them to contemplate (Dhyan). The pupils started following the instructions of the saint. All the pupils were busy in contemplation when suddenly they heard the sound of a drowning child. The said child, with a view to save his life was shouting 'Save Me! Save Me! One of the pupils among them left the contemplation process in between ran towards the site and succeeded in saving the life of the child. The saint, at the completion of the contemplation process asked the pupils if any of them heard the child's voice. All of them gave a affirmative response and admitted that all of them had heard the voice of the drowning child. At this, the saint asked the pupils, "What was the reason for which none of you except one pupil took any pain to leave the contemplation process in between and ran to save the life of the drowning child even on hearing his sound? All the pupils then replied, "How could it be possible for all of us to run and save the life of the drowning child when we were busy in contemplation". Hearing the reply of the pupils, the saint said, "The pupil who has saved the life of the child has, in real terms completed his education, whereas the other pupils have failed to do so. Though, all of you have turned educated, but your education is not visible in the execution of your deeds". 'Education' can be termed as significant only when it is utilized for the welfare of other people. Education has a significant role in life. Life has no meaning without education, so it should be utilized for the welfare of other people.

'State Level Prize' for Prashant Agarwal

The President of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan', Mr. Prashant Agarwal was conferred upon with a state level prize during a glittering programme that was organised on 3rd December i.e. on the occasion of World Disability Day at Nehru Bhawan Auditorium in Jaipur for his outstanding contribution in the field of education, training, rehabilitation and empowerment for 'differently abled' brothers & sisters. He was awarded the prize at the hands of the chief guest of the function and the Minister of Social Justice & Empowerment, Government of Rajasthan, Dr. Arun Chaturvedi. The Additional Chief Secretary, Mr. J.C. Mohanti, The Director of the Department of Social Justice and Empowerment, Mr. Samit Sharma and the member of the Commission for 'Differently Abled', Mr. Dhanna Lal Purohit were also kind enough to make their gracious presence on the occasion as special guests.

'Children's Day' celebrated with joy

The weeklong celebration of children's day went off to great start at the premises of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan' on 14th November, 2017. It was jointly organised by 'Sewa Parmo Dharm Trust' and 'Bhagwan Mahaveer Home for Destitute' of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan' and inaugurated by the Assistant Director of the Department of Social Justice and Empowerment, Meena Sharma. She provided the information relating to protection right of the children. The Founder of 'Sewa Parmo Dharm Trust', Mr. Prashant Agarwal welcomed the guests. The second day of the celebration marked the health checkup by the medical department. These children were also provided with the information relating to pulse polio. The children, in the abled guidance of the Director of the organization, Mrs. Vandana Agarwal participated the quiz programme entitling 'Protect Girl Child, Educate Girl Child' and drawing competition. The children took part in the singing and 'Antakshari' (a game of forming words and linked end-wise by the same word) programme on the third day of the celebration. The children were provided information on the fourth day with regard to the rights and acts relating to education. The Chief Caretaker of 'Balgriha' (dwelling place for organizational destitute children) was also present on the occasion. Various programmes were organized on the remaining days of the week.

Jackie Shroff and Dilip Joshi admired — 'Narayan Seva' —

The programme for the felicitation of service contributors of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan' was grandly organised at Hotel Manohar in Hyderabad, Telangana on 16th December, 2017 and on behalf of the organization. The service contributors were felicitated at the hands of renowned Bollywood actors. Noted film actor Jackie Shroff and well-known television artist Dilip Joshi (playing the role of Jetha Lal in Tarak Mehta Ka Ulta Chashma) inaugurated the programme by lighting the lamp in the holy proximity of the Founder-Chairman of the organization, Mr. Kailash 'Manav'. Welcoming the 'honorable' guests, the President of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan', Mr. Prashant Agarwal briefed about, in detail the various 'free of cost' service activities of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan', Udaipur.

Admiring the service activities of the organization, the chief guest of the programme, Mr. Jackie Shroff said the inner heart of all the service contributors is soft as wax as they are turning out as a big support in making the 'differently abled' children stand on their own. He further conveyed his sincere gratitude towards 'Narayan Seva Sansthan' for inviting him often to be a part of these service activities. Presiding over the programme, Mr. Dilip Joshi admired the service activities of the organization and thanked Mr. 'Manav' for selflessly providing new life to poor, 'differently abled' ones and those suffering from other critical diseases through their treatment and other means. The contributors of the organization namely Mr. Keshar Singh Rajpurohit, Mrs Alka Chowdhary, Mr. Kamal Narayan Rathi, Mr

Ratan Lal Duggad, Mr. Udai Singh Tated, Mrs. Nisha (Chairperson, Shailesh Foundation) Mr. Meghraj, Mr. Surya Prakash Bhutra, Mrs. Narayani Shah, Mrs. Jyotsna, Mrs. Sneha, Dr. Yogi Raj Arya were also felicitated with award and shawl department and on the occasion for the immense contribution made from their end to the organization in form of donations for the welfare of the poor and the needy people. Outstanding Performance by 'differently abled' children

Grand 'Fashion & Talent Show' on the eve of 'World Disability Day'

Some were deprived with both their hands while some with their legs, but the common aspect among all these brothers & sisters was the definite intention to present their potential and skill with complete enthusiasm thereby attaining success through courage. These 'differently abled' boys & girls, through presentation of song dance and physical excellence proved that they are second to none.

This was the scene at the 'Fashion and Talent Show' organised on the eve of 'World Disability Day' i.e. on 3rd December, 2017 and on behalf of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan' at Sukhadia Rangmanch in Udaipur which was participated by the talented 'differently abled' brothers & sisters from Udaipur and from various states of the country. Most among these had turned self-dependent by undergoing 'free of cost' training in various spheres viz. mobile repairing sewing, heena, computer housekeeping etc. at the completion of their corrective surgery for their polio (formerly and 'by birth') and other physical disabilities.

It was for the first time in the history of Udaipur that a unique show of this sort was organised over here specifically for the 'differently abled' talented ones. The show was jointly inaugurated by the gold medalist of Paralympics Athletic Event and a recipient of 'Rajiv Gandhi Khel Ratna Award', Mr. Devendra Jhajharia and the Founder-Chairman of the organization, Mr. Kailash 'Manav'. Mr. Jhajharia was kind enough to make his gracious presence on the occasion as a chief guest. The Chairman of Urban Improvement Trust, Mr. Ravindra Shrimali, District Collector, Mr. Vishnu Charan Mallick, President of Sindhi Literary Academy, Mr. Harish Rajani, The Deputy Commissioner of Devsthan, Mr. Dinesh Kothari, Dr. Anand Gupta, State Commandant of Airport, Mr. Rahul Verma and social worker, Mr. Yashwant Kothari were present on the occasion as special guests. Mr. Jhajharia was felicitated with a turban, shawl and a letter of commemoration.

Welcoming the guests, the President of the organization, Mr. Prashant Agarwal said that the 'differently abled' are not deprived of potential and skills. This quality was observed during their arrival at the hospital of the organization for their treatment thus it was realized that they simply needed motivation, appropriate opportunity and a proper platform. The organization took this responsibility. Hence, this glittering programme was dedicated to these 'differently abled' brothers & sisters. The programme 'took off' to a great start with the lighting of lamp before the idol of Lord Ganesha. In his address, the Founder – Chairman of the organization, Mr. Kailash 'Manav' said that 'each & every' activity of the organization is inspired by sympathy, courteous demeanor and mutual cooperation.

Presence of 'Man Ki Baat' fame Jigar Thakkar

Mr. Jigar Thakkar who was specifically mentioned by the Prime Minister of India, Mr. Narendra Modi during one of the episodes of radio programme, 'Man Ki Baat' was also present at the fashion & talent show. Mr. Thakkar has brought glory not only to his home town Rajkot, but also to the entire Gujarat state by winning 13 gold medals with a silver and a bronze each in various national level competitions. 80 % of his muscles are damaged since his birth. He also won 3 gold medals in the recently concluded national para swimming championship in Udaipur, Rajasthan.

Presentation in six categories

The 'differently abled' ones performed in six categories entitling 'fashion round with caliper', 'fashion round with wheel chair', 'fashion round with crutches', 'fashion round with artificial limbs', 'fashion round with blinds' and 'V. R.N. (dance, singing, physical skill) and compelled the audience to bite their forefingers with astonishment. Every category was comprised of ten participants. A well dressed assistant accompanied every participant during the walk. All these colored and multi designed dresses were prepared by the participants themselves during their training period at the organization itself and in the 'abled' guidance of Trainer Nasreen Bano.

The senior sadhaks of the organization felicitated the respective guests as per Mewari customs & tradition with a turban, shawl and a memento. The stage proceedings during the show were conducted by Mr. Om Pal Silan and Mr. Devendra Yadav respectively. Mr. Yadav is a 'differently abled' swimmer who has won five medals in national and state level para swimming championships.

'Salutation' to physical skill

The audience at Sukhadia Rangmance gave a standing ovation when a 'differently abled' young boy Jagdish Patel from Madhya Pradesh presented a dance with an unbelievable display of various bodily postures with a perfect balance. The next performance a 'differently abled' one from Uttar Pradesh namely Yogesh was repetition of the previous one as he too, like a professional dancer produced his physical skills (in spite deprived with both legs) on the wheel chair and over the floor of the stage and stunned every one present over there.

He has won many prizes in various national and state level body building competitions. Blind children also got a huge applause when they turned on the stage for cat walk with the attendants. The hall continued to bus with claps during the entire programme.

Great performance of physical skills

Let us come and witness the strength of 'differently abled' ones

Lightning spirit of 'visually impaired ones on the stage

Today, Anurag finds no problem in studying and playing.

'Naksh' blessed with a new life

Basically a native of Pali town of Rajasthan, India and a 'two year' old child of Anil Kumar namely Naksh was in the grip of a heart related disease since his birth. He used to find it too difficult to breath. Anil Kumar was fostering his 'four member' family by executing petty jobs 'here & there'. At this, Anil Kumar got him medically examined at Narayan Hridayalaya, Jaipur where the doctor advised for an immediate surgery, the expense of which was assumed as rupees 1, 44, 840/- It wasn't an easy task for poor physical laborer to arrange treatment expense on his own. Inspite of this, he wanted to get his son's surgery as early as possible, but no one took the initiative to help him. As someone has rightly said that 'where there is a will, there is a way' so one day he came to know from one of his known persons about the various 'free of cost' service activities that are executed on behalf of 'Sewa Parmo Dharm Trust'. He, without wasting a single minute came to Udaipur and met the founder of the trust, Mr. Prashant Agarwal and briefed him about the critical condition of his son. Mr. Agarwal realized the gravity of the situation and immediately arranged and sent the child to 'Narayan Hridayalaya, Jaipur where the 'free of cost' heart corrective surgery of Naksh took place successfully. Today, Naksh is happy and leading a normal life.

The 'almighty' gets pleased with the se

Organizational Visit by Union Minister for State

The Union Minister of State for Social Justice & Empowerment, Mr. Sapla has said that the 'almighty' gets pleased with the service of 'wretched & distressed' people. He was addressing the gathering while inaugurating the camp that was organised on behalf of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan' at its Sewamahateerth premises in Badi in Udaipur on 25th November, 2017 for corrective surgeries of 501

Knowledgeable person has an edge over others

“Worshipping of that person turns significant who is blessed with good thoughts. A person is great by his knowledge and not by his wealth or age. The life of that person turns significant who get successful in acquiring knowledge through religious congregation”. These views were expressed by the Founder – Chairman of the organization, Mr. Kailash 'Manav' during 'sharing of views' programme that was organised from 15th to 18th November, 2017. He described 'self –confidence' as the greatest asset of life during his address to the 'differently abled' children. These tiny ones had made their way to the hospital of the organization (with their attendants) for their respective 'free of cost' corrective surgeries over there. He further added that the person who gets himself engaged in the welfare activities of other people is great. A thief can never become rich in life and the donor can never turn poor. 'Good character' is the greatest asset of a person. Mr. Prashant Agarwal said that it is easy to express views on difficult matters, but too difficult to implement. Any person can assess himself through meditation. Knowledge with regard to the ultimate being can be attained through meditation. He further added that meditation, to a great extent helps in removing stress. One should worship the 'almighty' keeping ambitions aside. His grace can be attained through display of true love. The biggest enemy of a person is jealousy & criticism. One should keep himself away from it. The programme was telecast through 'Sanskar' channel while stage proceedings were conducted by Mr. Jain.

Flow of religious devotion

Programmes relating to sacred tales were organised in various parts of the country in November & December, 2017 on behalf of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan' for the welfare of needy ones.

Inner heart is the sole cause for fetter and emancipation

“The inner heart of a person is the sole cause for fetter and emancipation. If he gets himself involved in the lust of life then it becomes the cause of fetter whereas he gets emancipated if he sacrifices his life in the service of the

'almighty'. These views were expressed by renowned sacred tales recite, 'honourable' Arun Krishna Shastri who was seated on the sacred sage seat during the sacred tale 'Shrimad Bhagwad Katha' programme that was organized on behalf of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan' at Chhindwara in Madhya Pradesh on 29th November, 2017 for the 'Free of cost' treatment of 'differently abled' brothers & sisters. He said that the 'almighty' gets attracted by the inner heart of a person and not by his body or his dress up. Generally, a person remains stressed due to his 'pain & sufferings', so he should get 'Shrimad Bhagwad' dwelled within his inner heart.

“The easiest path to attain the perplexity of the 'almighty' is the path of religion. Utterance and reading of 'Shrimad Bhagwad Katha' is must to get rid from all our 'pain & sufferings'. These views were expressed by 'Radhalike' Jaya Kishori ji who was seated on the sacred sage seat during the sacred tale 'Shrimad Bhagwad Katha' programme that was organized on behalf of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan' at Nagaur from 20th to 29th Nov., 2017 for the 'Free of cost' treatment of 'differently abled' brothers & sisters. She further said that the glory of the 'almighty' is vested within 'Shrimad Bhagwad Katha'.

Bless oppressed ones with joy

A 'three day' sacred tale 'Nani Bai Ro Mayero' was grandly organised on behalf of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan' at 'Meera Ki Murli Bhavan' premises of Sewamahateerth in Badi, Udaipur from 4th to 6th November, 2017. The sacred tale was telecast 'live' on 'Aastha Bhajan' channel. Narrating the various incidences relating to the life of Narsi Mehta and that of his devotion al nature, the Founder – Chairman of 'Narayan Seva Sansthan', Mr. Kailash 'Manav' conveyed the message of helping each other. He urged the devotees to come forward and remove the 'pain & sufferings' of the oppressed humanity in the same way as Lord Krishna removed the pain of Narsi Mehta by fulfilling the formalities with regard to 'Mayera'. The artists from Vrindavan exhibited related incidences. The musical team presented a lovely collection of religious songs. Mr. 'Manav' urged the devotees not to abuse and use bad words for other people. He said that we shouldn't be jealous of others and should live with peace and intimacy. One of the devotees of Lord Krishna namely Narsi Mehta was unable to fulfill the formalities of 'Mayera' of his daughter and his daughter was dejected over the chiding of her in –laws. At that crucial juncture, it was Lord Krishna who came to the rescue of Narsi Mehta and fulfilled the formalities of his (Narsi Mehta) daughter so magnificently that everybody got stunned. Lord Krishna maintained the dignity of his devotees by gifting clothes, jewellery, gold coins diamond as 'Mayera' and by presenting gifts to the villagers. The proceedings during the sacred tale were conducted by Mr. Mahim Jain.
